

COSMIC Speculator

Instructions for confirmation of your subscription to The COSMIC Speculator

Dear Trader,

Thank you for your interest in The COSMIC Speculator forecast and alert service. Our company is relatively new. We have been in business since July 1, 2008 and our trading record overall is impressive; however, as you have read in our disclosure document, past performance is no guarantee for future results. The fact is our 2008 results are much better than our 2009 results to date. But we will continue to use our ZoneTrader™ method to locate high probability trades for you. We make no guarantees!

In order to complete your application for subscription to The COSMIC Speculator forecast and alert service, we invite you to contact our Business Manager, Richard V Rueb for a short discussion regarding what you might expect from your new subscription. His number is 888.367.9675. His eMail is Richard@COSMICSpeculator.com. You may contact him using either or both methods. But to seal your deal, we strongly encourage you to take advantage of this opportunity.

Up to this point in time, you may have been working with one of our marketing & sales companies, an independent operation not controlled by The COSMIC Speculator. We believe you have been accurately informed; however, the sales force are generally not subscribers themselves; therefore, they cannot know exactly how our service works for you. Richard is a subscriber to the service and has been personally trading the model ever since he and Matthew D. Reynolds (The COSMICTM Speculator) created the company. Richard knows how it “feels” to win a few and then lose one or two. He lives the method every day of every week just like you will. He trades one of his accounts personally pulling the trigger and he has provided his broker a Letter of Direction to trade another of his accounts for him. Therefore, when he is too busy to concentrate on every trade, his broker is working for him in the background putting his trades on and taking them off exactly how The COSMIC Speculator tells them to do it.

At this point in time, you are finished working with your sales team.

1. You have READ and signed our Agreement for our service.
2. You have READ and signed our Risk Disclosure and Terms of Service.
3. You have written and enclosed your check for the initial one year Service.

Your next step is to mail the package of the 3 items you have signed to R.V. Rueb, PO Box 370939, Las Vegas, NV 89137.

1. Sales Agreement 2. Risk Disclosure 3. Payment

Now, your last action before you may commence is to complete a short interview with Richard. He will set you straight, giving you the chance to back out of the deal should you learn an important point not fully understood previously. This interview is established with your best interest. If you want it, we want to share it. If you change your mind before we start, you may end it before we cash your check or process your credit card. But, once we start, you may not receive a refund, because we must remit the sales team their share and pay ourselves.
